14–28.03.2026
TOBLACH/DOBBIACO

“When life gives you more than one stroke of luck... take them all!”
And sometimes they sound like music.

Dear audience,

there are evenings that are simply beautiful.
And there are evenings that stay with you.

When a single note gives you goosebumps, when silence suddenly turns into tension and applause sounds like a promise – then it’s festival time in Toblach. In the Gustav Mahler Hall, great names meet young visions, classical music meets jazz, chamber music blends with orchestral waves of sound. And all of this with the Dolomites as silent and majestic witnesses.

The festival opens with the Epoque Quartet – energetic, surprising, and virtuosic. An ensemble that playfully transcends genre boundaries and reimagines sound.

This will be followed by an exceptional musical evening: Veronica Eberle joins the Orchestra da Camera di Mantova, conducted by Hossein Pishkar, performing Beethoven’s Violin Concerto Op. 61 in D major and Mendelssohn-Bartholdy’s Symphony No. 4.

With “Gleißend Klingendes 1913”, we open a shimmering window in time: literature in German language and music merge into a journey through a year poised between awakening, brilliance, and quiet premonition. Witty. Atmospheric. Strikingly relevant.

When South Tyrol’s musical future takes the stage, it becomes electrifying: the South Tyrol Youth Orchestra under the direction of Edwin Cáceres-Peñuela brings fresh energy – and with the world premiere of Big Bang by South Tyrolean composer Mathias Schmidhammer, even a sonic explosion enters the festival programme.

And the grand finale?

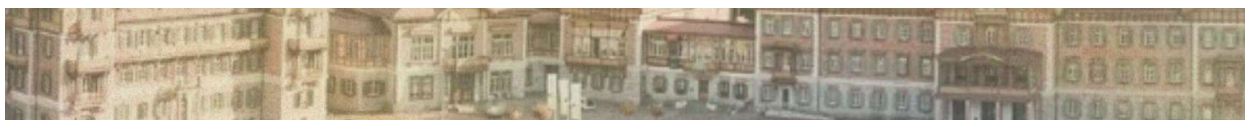

International jazz excellence with guitar poet Wolfgang Muthspiel under the patronage of the Austrian Cultural Forum Milan, followed by an evening full of rhythm, colour, and musical freedom between jazz and folklore. Boundaries? There are none here. K.K_Klang-Kabinet & Sweet Alps Orchestra: Only sound – and a “six-pack sound” straight from the mountains!

 Tickets are still available.

Secure your personal “stroke of luck” – before they’re sold out.
